

SENIOR MANAGER, STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIPS

Location: Copenhagen, Denmark

Start date: As soon as possible (ideally 1 April 2019)

Purpose

Drive, support and manage key initiatives across Global Fashion Agenda's (GFA) Strategic and Associate Partners, in close collaboration with GFA Senior Leadership. Cultivate strong working relationship with Partners, cross-functional and cross-cluster teams to help GFA deliver on its ambitious goals – to change the way we produce, market and consume fashion.

Key accountabilities:

- Principal owner responsible for managing relationships with Strategic and Associate Partners and Content Experts – both long-term planning and day-to-day management
- Collaborating with GFA leadership and project leads on Strategic Partner engagement
- Driving direct and group discussions/meetings with Partners, developing relevant materials and aligning with GFA and Senior Partner Leadership (including Steering Committee agendas)
- Establishing and managing the process of gathering and synthesizing input from Partners for CEO-level reports and policy engagement
- Leading all communications with Partners (including collaborating with internal communication team)

Knowledge, skills and abilities:

- Ability to build and cultivate key relationships with multiple stakeholders
- Experience balancing multiple interests and problem-solving with diplomacy
- Ability to communicate complex sustainability issues in a precise and concise way
- Strong planning and organisational skills – ability to coordinate with other functions, departments and external stakeholders
- Structured thinking to create exceptional work-product with little oversight
- Strong verbal and written communication skills – experience engaging with partners or clients at a senior leadership level
- Advanced presentation skills – including structuring storylines and developing materials quickly in PowerPoint

Qualifications:

- Master's degree with an emphasis in Marketing, Business or Public Policy preferred
- Five years managing relationships/partnerships at a senior level
- Demonstrated content/subject-matter knowledge on sustainability – education and/or work experience in the field preferred
- Equivalent combination of education and/or experience may be substituted for degree

About Global Fashion Agenda & Copenhagen Fashion Summit

Global Fashion Agenda (non-profit) is the foremost leadership forum on sustainability in fashion. Through our work, including our flagship event Copenhagen Fashion Summit, we mobilise the global fashion system to shape leadership agendas and guide decision-makers, for the long-term growth and prosperity of our industry. A hybrid between leadership network, think-tank and advocacy organisation, we engage with the principal business, political and other leaders of the fashion industry. Our work is typically guided by a group of Strategic Partners who provide essential leadership to support our mission, including ASOS, BESTSELLER, H&M group, Kering, Li & Fung, Nike, PVH Corp., Sustainable Apparel Coalition and Target.

How to apply

Please send your CV and short motivation letter (max. 400 words) to info@globalfashionagenda.com.

Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis.

As Global Fashion Agenda is committed to diversity and inclusion, we encourage all applicants no matter age, race, nationality, sexual orientation, disability, sex and gender identity, religion or political affiliation to apply for vacancies.